Turning the Love of Golf Into a Legacy of Health

ABOUT JACK PITTS — A TRAILBLAZER'S LEGACY

Jack Pitts is more than a former athlete — he is a living symbol of excellence, courage, and community. Growing up in Decatur, Georgia, his extraordinary gifts on the football field opened doors that had previously been closed to Black athletes in the American South. His story is one of firsts, of breaking barriers, and of using one's platform to lift others.

Athletic Highlights

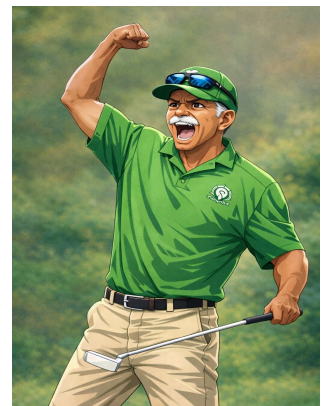

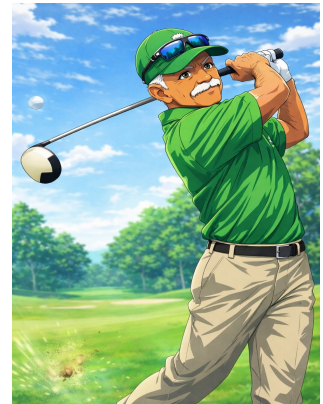

- Quarterback for Trinity High School (Decatur, GA) — led team to the 1965 Class A GIA State Championship, throwing two touchdowns, scoring the winning TD, and intercepting a key pass
- Scored 56 career touchdowns, including 24 rushing and passing TDs in just the first five games of his senior season
- Named MVP of the 1966 GIA East-West All-Star Game
- Recruited by Michigan State University under legendary coach Duffy Daugherty — called "the finest quarterback prospect we've ever seen on film"
- Believed to be the first African American from metro Atlanta to play Big Ten football
- Won the starting QB position on MSU's freshman team, beating out five other quarterbacks — threw two TD passes against Notre Dame
- His recruitment was part of Coach Daugherty's historic effort to integrate college football

Academic Achievement

- Valedictorian of his graduating class at Trinity High School
- Received more than 30 scholarship offers from universities across the country
- Earned a degree from Michigan State University

Awards & Honors

- 2015 — Inducted into the Decatur Athletics Wall of Honor
- 2024 — Inducted into the Georgia High School Football Hall of Fame, among 30 honorees celebrated at the College Football Hall of Fame in Atlanta
- Received the Leadership Award from the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan
- Foundation's golf tournament recognized with plaques in the lobbies of Sparrow Hospital and the Henry Cancer Center

Jack Pitts' story sits at the intersection of football history and the civil rights movement. As a pioneering Black quarterback recruited from the segregated South to a Big Ten powerhouse, he helped catalyze the integration of college football. His journey — from valedictorian and state champion in Decatur to Big Ten quarterback — inspired generations and proved that talent transcends racial barriers.

ABOUT THE JACK PITTS HEALTH FOUNDATION
